2. Language Features

The present perfect tense refers to an action or states that:

- Occurred (experienced) at an indefinite time in the past
  Example: I have told you before about this.
- Began in the past and continued to the present time
  Example: I have worked in this company since 2008.

To form this tense, use the formula:

- Positive sentence: Subject + have/has + past participle form
- Negative sentence: Subject + have/has not + past participle form
- Interrogative sentence: Have/has + subject + past participle form + ?

Note 1: The use of have/has depends on subject. See the example of the verb "walked":

Positive sentence	Negative sentence	Interrogative sentence
I have walked	I haven't walked	Have I walked?
You have walked	You haven't walked.	Have you walked?
He, she, it has walked	He, she, hasn't walked	Has he, she, it walked?
We have walked	We haven't walked	Have we walked?
You have walked	You haven't walked	Have you walked?
They have walked	They haven't walked	Have they walked?

Note 2: Pay attention to irregular verbs for past participles (verb 3). Not all verbs ended with -ed. See the example:

Verb	Past (verb 2)	Past Participle (verb 3)
Come	Came	Come
Begin	Began	Begun
Bite	Bit	Bitten
Break	Broke	Broken
Bring	Brought	Brought
