

CHAPTER IV

TALKING ABOUT PLANS

Pendahuluan

Menyampaikan rencana atau niatan dalam bahasa Inggris mungkin terlihat seperti hal yang rumit karena ada begitu banyak macam cara yang bisa digunakan seperti penerapan simple future tense yang tidak akan lepas dari penggunaan will dan be going to. Melalui kegiatan ini diharapkan mahasiswa mampu mengekspresikan niat, tujuan atau juga rencana yang ingin atau akan lakukan di masa menggunakan will dan be going to secara tepat sesuai dengan fungsinya.

Kegiatan Belajar

1. Reading and Vocabulary

My Future Plans and expectations

I often wonder about my future as I am about to finish Secondary School. The number one question on my mind is which profession should I choose? I want a profession that will satisfy me, challenge me, and bring me joy. I believe that a job should be like a hobby. I want to love my work.

First of all, as soon as I finish Secondary School, I will take the first important exam of my life - the final graduation exam. I will be tested in three different subjects: Mathematics, English, and Bahasa. After my graduation, I will study at the Medical University to become a doctor.

But now, I am focusing my attention on finishing my studies. Also, before I have a family, I am going to travel overseas, I have learnt English a lot to improve my speaking skill. I want to see countries like Japan, Finland, and travel through the African continent. After I finish my education and travels, I plan to get married and have a family. I would like to live with my future family in a quiet, natural countryside setting.

2. Language Features

- a. The simple future tense is used when an action is promised/thought to occur/ happen in the future. It is usually used with time signals, e.g., “tonight, tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, two days later, next month, next time, this afternoon, until, while, in a little while, after.
- b. Simple future tense has two different forms in English: "will" and "be going to." Although the two forms can sometimes be used interchangeably, they often express two very different meanings. These different meanings might seem too abstract at first, but with time and practice, the differences will become clear. Both "will" and "be going to" refer to a specific time in the future.
- c. Simple Future Tense

Will vs Be Going To
Will	Be Going To
Will" often suggests that a speaker will do something voluntarily. A voluntary action is one the speaker offers to do for someone else. Often, we use "will" to respond to someone else's complaint or request for help. We also use "will" when we request that someone help us or volunteer to do something for us. Similarly, we use "will not" or "won't" when we refuse to voluntarily do something	"Be going to" expresses that something is a plan. It expresses the idea that a person intends to do something in the future. It does not matter whether the plan is realistic or not.

Will	Be Going To
Rapid decision - I'm thirsty, I think I will buy a drink Offer - That looks heavy. I will help you with it Promise - Don't worry, I won't tell anyone. Threat - If you don't stop, I will tell your mom. Refusal - She won't listen to anything I say	Prior Plan The decision was made before the moment of speaking. - I am going to go to the beach next month with my friends Evidence/ Signs When there are signs that something is likely to happen. - It is 70-0. They are going to win
We can use both will and be going to for making prediction.
I think it will rain tomorrow = I think it is going to rain tomorrow

Dialogue 1

Aban : Hi, As. What are you going to do this weekend?

Askara : Hi, ban. I'm going to play badminton with Dita. She is my cousin from Bengkulu.

Aban : Where are you going to play?

Askara : We're going to play badminton in the yard near your house. Do you want to join us or will you do something else this weekend?

Aban : Oh, okay. I don't have anything to do this weekend. I think I will ask my brother to join us. Is it okay?

Askara : Oh, that's such a great idea. You will know my cousin soon and we will have so much fun there.

Aban : What time will we be there?

Askara : At 4.30 in the afternoon.

Aban : Okay. My brother and I will be there in time.

Askara : Alright.

Rangkuman

The simple future is a verb tense that's used to talk about things that haven't happened yet. It is used to express an action that will occur or happen in the future.

Future simple 'will' expresses spontaneity. We use it to talk about decisions made at the moment of speaking such as offers, promises or threats.

We used will and base form verb for all personal pronouns.

The short form of will is 'll. In negative we use "won't" and the base form verb again for all personal pronouns.

We used 'going to' to talk about predictions based on what we can see. We use it also to talk about plans and intentions. They are premeditated thoughts. It expresses the idea that a person intends to do something in the future. It does not matter whether the plan is realistic or not.

We used the form of "to be" (am/ is/ are) and going to and base form verb. We use 'am' for I; 'are' for you, we, they; 'is' for he, she, it.

The short form of going to is gonna.
